Dear Member of Parliament,

As my elected Member to represent me in Parliament, please may I ask you to lobby the Secretary of State for Health, and the Public Accounts Scrutiny Committee to take action and reinstate Consultant Cardiologist, Dr Raj Mattu, since all attempts at resolution have previously resulted in the matter being declared "a little local dispute".

In Coventry, the big new University Hospital has wasted millions of Pounds on the case of Consultant Cardiologist, Dr Raj Mattu, who has been cleared by an Inquiry headed by Andrew Stafford Q.C., which recommended that he should be returned to work, and also the General Medical Council. Dr Mattu's clinical competence was never in question, yet he was suspended as long ago as February 2002 on a single uncorroborated claim of verbal bullying. He has never been allowed to work since, and the stress has ruined his health and his career, and he has now been summarily dismissed while an in-patient in hospital, denying him the chance to defend himself. He intends to appeal against this decision.

The waste of taxpayers' money, intended for patient care, has been diverted to lining the pockets of Lawyers and paying staff to prepare paperwork.

This cannot be allowed to continue, yet the Strategic Health Authority have failed to investigate, despite having been first asked to do so several years ago, and several times since.

Yours faithfully,
